the Bloody Drama' which Opened with the Murder of Sheriff Beattie, of Crittenden County, Ark.

Execution of Hays White at Marion resterday-Strangled to Death-A Big Crowd Present.

At Marion, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the negro, Hays White, convicted of the murder of Sheriff Beattie, of Crittenden county, Arkansas, paid the penalty demanded by the outraged law for the heinous crime. Since his trial and conviction he has evidently considered his chances of escape from death as less than none at all, and has made such preparation for the dread event as in his power lay. He had the attendance of ministers, and was allowed to see such friends as chose to visit him. His behavior since arrest has been good, never giving any trouble to the officers in whose charge he was. He died professing a confident hope of a blessed immortality, but just how he arrived at this comforting conclusion while the blood of his victim was scarcely dry on his hands he did not disclose.

YESTERDAY MORNING

he awoke at an ealry hour, after an apparently refreshing night's rest, and partook of a substantial breakfast, conversing freely the while with other prisoners and the guards.

substantial breakfast, conversing freely the while with other prisoners and the guards. After breakfast he regaled himself with a hearty draught of lager, kindly sent to him by a lady of the village. Reporters and other visitors commenced to drop in about 9 o'clock, and he answered without heattation any and all questions asked him. He repeated the story of the murder, as heretofore given in this paper, and said he was sorry that he had killed Beattie, but whether his sorrow was for the crime or because of its evil results toward himself, would be hard to say. He spoke kindly of the officers and guards, with the exception of one Bill Reid, a negro, who' annoyed him very much at times when on duty, by singing and dancing and otherwise interrupting his devotions, a statement which was confirmed by other prisoners. White admitted having been in a good many broils and difficulties, but declared the crime for which he was about to suffer was the fully time he had taken human life. He was dressed in a neat suit of black, and was quite respectable in appearance.

ABOUT HALF-PAST ELEVEN O'CLOCK, Sheriff Ward entered the cell to prepare White for execution. The irons were taken off, his arms pinioned above the elbows, the guard fell into line and the dreary procession took its way to the rallows. Arrived there off, his arms pinioned above the crows, the guard fell into line and the dreary procession took its way to the gallows. Arrived there the prisoner was told he then had opportu-nity to make any remarks that he desired. Beyond again repeating the details of the murder of Mr. Beattle and the shooting of ner Hendricks he had little to say. At conclusion of his statement, Elder H. G. ndy, a colored Baptist, gave out the and the thousand or more negroes present joined, as did the prisoner, in the singing. Prayer was then offered by the colored clergyman, after which White gave out the negro camp-meeting hymn commencing which was also taken part in by those present. This concluded, many colored people in the crowd hallooed "Good-bye, White," to which he responded, calling the speakers by name. For answer to specification first, he denies that he declined to collect tuition from non-resident pupils attending the Peabody schools during the session of 1880-81, but admits that there were pupils, who live beyond the city limits, in the said school during the said session, from whom tuition was not collected, for the following reasons: Shortly after the beginning of the session referred to, to-wit: at the November meeting of the Board of Education, respondent went before the said board and stated the facts in regard to said matter, and asked if he should dismiss said pupils. The matter was discussed and respondent was led to understand that his ac tion was fully approved of by the Board. Re-spondent further states that he is advised that it has never been customary to enforce said rule strictly in the Peabody schools.

Agreat work of expurgation and renovation now going on at the old Alum Springs, including thorough system of drainage, a new and abundant water supply of pure freestone from the mountain repainting and new roofing, a very large introduction of new furniture, and in general a thorough overheating of the entire premises.

The elegance of the new "Jordan Alum," its spacious and commodious "Grand Hotel" and Cottages, and the Beauty of its Grounds, are widely known to the Springs going public. My aim and carnest effort shall be to keep this now combined establishment in a manner to give satisfaction to all reasonable guests.

An Excellent Livery is engaged, under a contract imposing a reasonable tariff of charges. All the customary diversions are provided for, such as Band and Ballicoom Music, Bowling and Billiards, and all that; but I do not "bank" much on these things. My main efforts shall be directed, with the aid of au efficient staff, to make the patrons of the place Comfortable and "At Home," and regain, if possible, for this attractive unmor resort, its old popularity and prestige.
